Release Overview

Features and Functionality

- Changes have been made so that CSM Core's API engine can be utilized without a CSM Core subscription:
 - A subscription is no longer required to create CSM API messages.
 - Trial messaging and validations are no longer activated on certain CSM Core pages.These changes allow Suite Engine to introduce new products that use the API engine without requiring the presence of a CSM Core subscription.
- Microsoft introduced a new codeunit for TempBlob usage in an earlier version of Business Central to replace the older TempBlob table. Relevant instances in CSM have been updated to use this new codeunit.

Channel Foundations

The following Channel Sales Manager Core changes will support forthcoming features and functionality for channel-specific integrations:
